Pro Bono Publico!

IF YOU LOVE YOUR COUNTRY, encourage Home Productions. Why will you send abroad for wretchedly spurious articles, when you can have the good and true and beautiful of Oregon material and Oregon workmanship close at your very doors?

Why impoverish your country and its mechanics by the calculations of Prejudice, or by parsimonious misdirection?

HORATIO COOKE & CO.,
Corner of Alder and Second sts., Portland,

Have now on hand and are steadily constantly increasing a Large Stock of

ROCKING CHAIRS,
ARM CHAIRS, CRADLES,
CRIBS, SAFES,
SASH AND DOORS.

Other articles, too numerous to mention, either on hand or made to order.

The superscribers would modestly infer to the most gracious public of the State of Oregon that they would gladly exchange any or all of the above articles for "READY MONEY," or any other article of commerce that will by the conveyance give pleasurable sensations to the high contracting parties.

The life-spring of trade, "READY CASH,"
No matter in which way we view it,
Enables us onward to dash,
And therefore we mean to stick to it.

Billiard and Ten Pin Balls turned to the most exact spherical conformation.

Various kinds of turning executed with the beauty of true taste, and to the truth of true order.

MONDAY MORNING SEPT 28 186

The Caucus Condemned.

One of the best sections of Portland correspondence in the San Francisco Bulletin which the Judge has ever written is the following from the last letter upon the recent victory of the people over the candidates of the convention—nominated as unworthily and corruptly according to all accounts as any nomination was ever made any where.

"Well done San Francisco! The news of the election of the Man's Union ticket in San Francisco has been received here with particular satisfaction by all those who think it well for the country that the governing class should be selected from the best rather than the worst of the community. Keep away from the primaries forever. Do as Hawes suggested—don't legalize, but put them under the ban of honest and intelligent opinion and make them infamous. They are the natural nidus wherein to breed scrub tickets—the nurseries of disorder, lawlessness and fraud. They are the invention of Aaron Burr and his political myrmidons in New York, and by their political descendants have been transplanted to this coast. [illegible] flock late and early, all the doubtful and impure elements of the rank and money civilization of large towns and cities. [illegible] character, ability, learning, property—everything for which a man ought to be trusted and honored, is contemptuously cast aside, while the supple knave, the sturdy ruffian, and the needy vagrant are exalted by simply bowing lower and shouting louder than better men to the popular idol or idea, be that what it may—Lincolnism, partyism, manism or devilism. The world has not changed much since glorious old John' said

> So easy still it proves in factious times
> With public zeal to cancel private crimes.

We are glad to perceive from this that His Honor is no adherent to the political heresy which once was popular in Oregon, and which drove any partisan into utter exile and contempt, if he presumed to exercise his own intelligence or judgment in regard to the action of caucuses and convention.

A true patriot is most true to his party and his country, when he refuses to support that party in measures which are corrupt in their tendency, or the work of demagogues for factional and personal purposes, and we further believe it to be his duty, because he desires his party to succeed, always and earnestly to resist the trick, and cunning schemes of managers who are generally, in past at least office holders, and are laboring rather for individual benefit, than in behalf of the noble objects which a good party will seek to promote.

READ THE FOLLOWING.—A newspaper recently started in Yazoo City, Mississippi, publishes the following paragraph, which we especially commend to all those who think the people of the South are unanimously in favor of secession:

"THE PEOPLE OF THE SOUTH A UNIT."—There never was a greater humbug than this. Large numbers of Union men have already come within our lines and are anxious to take the oath of allegiance to the United States. Upon inquiry, however, they are found not to be slaveholders. It is the same everywhere. The Georgia soldiers everywhere are more than half of them anxious to fight for the Union instead of against it. In Arkansas to day, if a fair vote could be had, they would come back to the Union by an overwhelming majority. Texas the same way. Union men be of good cheer! Your day of deliverance draws nigh! You who have stood firm for the good old Government through the fiery ordeal of secession and rebellion at the sacrifice of your property and your friends, are not forgotten by the brave hearts of the North. For every garden the rebels have taken from you, you shall have a plantation and for every blow you have received your enemies shall have ten dealt to them.

OREGON TOBACCO.—We have in our office a sample of tobacco grown by Mr James Terwilliger, and cured by Mr J S Boon, which we invite judges of the "weed" to call and examine. We are no judge of the quality of tobacco, but we are assured by an old Virginia friend that it is equal in fineness to any raised in the valley of Virginia. Tobacco can be grown in Oregon with less trouble and expense, than in any of the Southern States, because there is no tobacco worm or suckers here and the climate is very well adapted to its culture. There are annually very large sums of money sent out of this State and Washington Territory for tobacco, which, were our farmers to use a little more energy and perseverance, might be saved to the State. The cry of hard times is echoed throughout the State by our farmers, while they are not using scarcely any endeavors to remedy them. There are numerous articles imported here for home consumption which ought to be exported, and tobacco is one of those articles. Its general culture in this State would tend rapidly to increase its wealth. Let every farmer who uses the "weed," at least, make the experiment, and raise his own tobacco next season.

RELIEVED.—We learn from a gentleman just from Olympia, that Victor Smith, Collector of Customs for the Puget Sound District, was relieved from the duties of said office on last Tuesday by Dr Gunn. Also that J. Ross Brown accompanied the new Collector to Port Angeles, on a tour of inspection as special agent of the Government, to inquire into the financial and political condition of affairs on this coast.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to September 21.

NEW YORK, Sept 21.—The Herald says private advices represent that there is considerable feeling in New Orleans on the Intervention question, especially among the French and creole population. This feeling has been much stimulated by recent mails from the North. It was known to the French Consul at New Orleans that the French would occupy Matamoras with four or five thousand men in a few days. A collision was expected between the French and Federal gunboats at the mouth of the Rio Grande, on some matter connected with cotton and Confederate supplies. The feeling in regard to Intervention was recently indicated by an advance of [illegible] per cent in Confederate bonds. Ex-Gov Morehead of Kentucky, now in Paris, it is positively alleged has written to a friend in New York that Napoleon and Jeff Davis had formed a secret treaty for recognition through the agency of Slidell.

The Herald's Washington special makes the statement that Stephens' mission to Washington was to consult with the Federal authorities as to whether satisfactory terms of compromise might be arranged so as to save the Confederates the disgrace of inviting foreign aid, said aid to be an arrangement with France—she to assist the rebels with fleets and armies in exchange for possession of Texas. It is said that Stephens is now in Paris effecting this arrangement.

NEW YORK, Sept 21.—Money easy at 5@6. Sterling 53@54. Gold opened at 140 and closed firm at 143. Government Stocks without change.

A special from the Army of the Potomac says the rains of the 18th have swollen the Rapidan river several feet. We have lost in skirmishes in the last week 93 men and [illegible] officers.

WASHINGTON, Sept 21.—Army quiet on the Rapidan, the enemy being strongly posted on the south side, with a few troops on both sides some distance up stream and no signs of offensive movements. It is pretty well known that both Longstreet's and Ewell's corps have been sent to Bragg.

ST LOUIS, Sept 21.—The steamer Marcella was boarded and destroyed on the 15th at Dover Landing, Lafayette county, Mo. Three soldiers were killed. During the past week 5,000 persons crossed the river at Lexington, mostly refugees from the border counties.

Messengers recently arrived at Fort Scott report Coffee at Cowskin Prairie with 1,500 men. Quantrell had passed Ball's Mills with most of his command. It is supposed he was going to join Coffee. Gen Blunt is on his way up with a small escort.

CHICAGO, Sept 21.—A late number of the Chattanooga Rebel (now published at Marietta, Georgia) contains an order from the Governor for all who can supply themselves with arms to report themselves at the nearest railroad station for transportation to Bragg's army. The Governor informs the people that he has already sent forward 15,000 men and exults over the effect of the call. He says the stations are alive with men anxious to join Bragg.

WASHINGTON, Sept 21.—The Republican says the enemy attacked Rosecrans on Sunday morning, the 20th inst at 9 o'clock with an overwhelming force. The battle raged furiously all day. According to latest accounts which left Chattanooga at 8 o'clock last night two and only two divisions gave way in utter panic and confusion. From eight to ten thousand of these had been rallied and got back to their places, while the remainder of the army had not retreated and at the latest moment was driving back the advance of the enemy. This we know to be the latest news received here. The number killed and wounded on both sides will probably not fall short of 30,000.

LOUISVILLE, Sept 21st—midnight.—Not a word from Rosecrans' army to-day. Rumors are current not traceable to any reliable source, that a large portion of Grant's army is rapidly marching to the aid of Rosecrans and that the engagement between the armies is still progressing. Military authorities here do not believe any disastrous results have occurred to the Army of the Cumberland.

Second Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept 22.—The battle of Saturday the 19th inst, resulted well for us. We having held our own as established on the left and concentrated our forces and Sunday morning held the line with our right resting on a ridge of hills, and our left protected by rude works thrown up during the night, on the east side of Roseville and Lafayette road, four miles South of Roseville. In the fight on Saturday we lost about 1,000 killed and 2,000 wounded, and were ahead three pieces artillery. The fight was resumed at [illegible] o'clock on Sunday morning, by an attempt of the rebels to storm Thomas and the front several times. They were seriously repulsed with heavy loss and but little loss to us. The fight lasted an hour and a half and was the most terrific of the war, a continuous fire of musketry and artillery being kept up with deadly effect. During this time our right and centre not being engaged, skirmishers were keeping up a rolling fire. The enemy finding their assaults in vain maneuvered to the left with the intention of throwing their force on Roseville road and attack Thomas on the left flank. At this juncture, Thomas ordered Brandon, who with one brigade in reserve and two with Reynolds who was holding the key of the position which was on Thomas' right, to the left of the line and protect the flanks.—Gen Rosecrans in the meantime sent Gens Davis and VanCleave from the right to the centre to support Brandon in his effort to hold the line to Roseville, while skirmishers from the front of the division moved from the right and centre. The enemy made vigorous attacks on that part of our line piercing the centre and cutting off Davis, and driving the centre into the mountains. The right and centre was much scattered without any serious loss in killed and wounded. Gen Thomas' right became exposed to a most terrific flank attack. Reynolds and Brandon's division composing the right of Thomas' line were swung round, his extreme left being as at first. This also fell back on Roseville road, and parts of the centre were gathered up and reported to Thomas who made several stands but was unable to check the rebel advance, until the arrival of reinforcements. At [illegible] o'clock Gen Granger with one division of reserves came up and was thrown into the centre driving the enemy from his position on a ridge with heavy loss. The fire from Granger's batteries literally mowed them down. This fight only lasted half an hour with slight loss to us.

After this bloody repulse the enemy remained quiet until 4 in the afternoon, persisting, however, in maneuvering on both flanks. Their full and correct knowledge of the country enabled them to do so with great facility. Having got again on our flanks the rebels made a vigorous attack and a fight ensued which has no parallel in history. Col Hawkins' brigade and Wood's and Johnson's divisions holding the left, covered themselves with glory, and on the right and centre Brandon, Baird, Reynolds and Palmer, with parts of their divisions, fought most gallantly, and Granger, with the reserves, drove the enemy at every point where they met. The line was still triumphant and on the left held the same position as in the morning, but with the right of the enemy resting on the line nearly at right angles with that of the morning. Two lines of [illegible] were open to him to Chattanooga, up one of which he fell back to Roseville during the night. Our losses have been heavy, but the list of killed is surprisingly light, and in the two days' engagement we have not suffered more in loss of men than the rebels. In a charge made by Thomas on the first day we lost as many killed as during the balance of the day. What our loss in material and prisoners is we cannot now say. Our killed will reach 1,200, wounded 7,000, most of them slightly. Among the General officers killed are Gen Little, Col Key and Col King, commanding brigades, and Col Birthelson of the 101st Illinois. Among the wounded are Gen Morton of Rosecrans' staff and several Colonels and Majors, a majority being only slightly wounded. Gen John M King is reported wounded and a prisoner. We captured Gen Adams of Texas with 1,200 of his men.

CHICAGO, Sept 22.—The N Y Tribune's Washington special says the general summing up of the battle in Northern Georgia is that after two days hard fighting in which Rosecrans' forces bore the shock of 140,000 rebels comprising the armies of Bragg, Johnston, half of Lee's and all of Pemberton's that could be gathered together, he deemed it prudent to fall back to Chattanooga, which he did in good order. At last accounts he had opened communication with Burnside's cavalry, who is severely censured for not having arrived earlier. Two of Rosecrans' divisions are reported not to have behaved well. It is believed Rosecrans will soon be in a position enabling him to resume the offensive. Meantime he is thought to be able to hold his ground.

There is reason to believe that attention will soon be paid to what remains of Lee's army. The Army of the Potomac has begun to move so far as to send Buford's cavalry across the Rapidan without obstruction. It is supposed that but a feeble force of rebels intervene between Meade and Richmond. Those who have doubted accumulated evidences of many detachments having left Lee for the Southwest now seem inclined to admit the fact since the news from the Chattanooga battle has proved that Rosecrans is fighting the whole Confederate force.

The New York Herald's Washington dispatch says it is officially known that Rosecrans has fallen back to Chattanooga to await the arrival of Burnside's forces, which were within 50 miles of that place on Sunday, and expected to be up with him on Monday, when a forward movement will be promptly made on the lines of the enemy at Pigeon mountain. The utmost confidence is felt here that on the junction of Burnside with Rosecrans the rebels will be badly beaten, and compelled to fall back on Rome or Oppolousa.

WASHINGTON, Sept 22.—A special dispatch says that correspondents in the army are not to use telegraph lines for the transmission of reports to newspapers.

A gentleman from Falmouth a few days says no rebel forces are in that vicinity.

CAIRO, Sept 20th.—An expedition under Gen Crocker, from Natchez to Alexandria, (La) on the Red river, a few days since was successful in capturing several pieces of cannon, destroying the fortifications at Alexandria erected for the United States. Large quantities of stores, and a number of cattle and mules were also captured.

When last heard from the rebel army in Arkansas was at Arkadelphia, at the head of navigation on White river. It is believed they will continue to retreat as our army advances. Gen Davidson's force of cavalry, said to number 6,300, was in occupation of Little Rock. Nine hundred prisoners were taken, and also 1,200 negroes, with some heavy ordnance and stores.

Additional Eastern News.

CHICAGO, Sept 19.—A division of cavalry commanded by Gen Stanly which is our ordnance guard, had quite an affair with a portion of Bragg's army yesterday week. They found the rebels near Ringgold some miles southeast of Chattanooga. After considerable skirmishing Gen Stanly charged the enemy and was repulsed. Four subsequent cavalry charges were repulsed. Gen Negley's division then came up to support the cavalry which retired in good order having developed the fact that the enemy was at that point in force.

An account of the fight of Sunday last says the rebel force 10,000 strong attacked Negley's brigade of 3,300 at Bird's Gap and drove him back three miles. Negley recovered his ground next morning with a loss of 35 killed, wounded and missing. The rebel loss was not definitely known, we buried 60 of their dead.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND, Sept. 18.—All quiet, though constant skirmishing is going on along the line and frequent dashes of the cavalry of both armies are made. The enemy apparently intends to dispute our further advance and remains in constantly increasing force immediately in our front a few miles distant, receiving heavy reinforcements.

Troops from Lee's army under Longstreet, passed through Augusta (Ga) on the 10th and 11th by rail to Resaca. His advance is thought to have reached Lafayette. Rosecrans has assumed a strong defensive position on Camarge Creek, covering Chattanooga. He evinces no disposition to attack at present. Preparations to do so cannot be completed for a few days when a battle must ensue.

The rebels have been moving through the Gaps in the Pegram mountains, and forming their lines on this side as if to attack Rosecrans. They have been busy to day feeling our lines and artillery duels have been brisk with few casualties. Little doubt remains that Longstreet or Ewell's corps may any day bring on an engagement.

MEMPHIS, Sept 16.—Reports from Tuscumbia say that several thousand of Johnston's Infantry were at Tuscumbia on the 10th. They were going to Decatur. Roddy had also left for Decatur leaving only a small force to guard the Tennessee Valley.

NEW YORK, Sept 19.—The World's New Orleans correspondent writing on the 11th, mentions the movement, probably on Texas, of three columns under Franklin, Washburn and Herron. The gunboat Clifton while passing through Sabine Pass a few days ago was exposed to a raking fire which reduced her to a total wreck, killing or wounding all on board. The gunboat Sachem which was in her company was captured.

The Tribune's special dispatch from Washington states that a private letter from our consul at Liverpool says that one Anglo-rebel ram was ready for sea and expresses a decided opinion that the British Government will take no steps to prevent her sailing. There are those who consider the Consul's views more entitled to credence than the opposition views expressed by Minister Adams.

An inmate of Libby prison at Richmond writing on the 8th of August says that 500 of our officers and soldiers are quartered there. They are well and as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstance.

A private letter from officers in Rosecrans' army more than confirm all previous accounts touching desertions from the rebel army. During the march to Chattanooga not less than 3,000 of these refugees came into our lines.

A Newbern letter of the 15th to the Herald says that intelligence from the front announce the arrival of a large force of the enemy at Kingston, N C, with artillery and cavalry, said to number 40,000 men, but this is probably exaggerated. No North Carolina troops are mentioned as being among the new arrivals.

Between 20,000 and 30,000 rebel troops passed through or were in the vicinity of Raleigh a few days since.

A Fortress Monroe letter in the Herald says that rumors are here of the most exciting kind to the effect that Lee is [illegible] the whole State of Virginia to Bragg, also that Charleston was shelled for three days and completely destroyed. This is said to be communicated by parties direct from Atlanta, Ga.

FORTRESS MONROE, Sept 17.—Four of our men captured in the fire charge on Wagner, recently escaped and arrived [illegible]. They state that [illegible] time past [illegible] running through R[illegible] [illegible] very formidable.

An army letter from the Lower Mississippi says: Do not verdantly suppose, however, that these emancipated slaves are themselves black. Quite the reverse. They are [illegible] claret colored, [illegible] red, [illegible] pale straw colored and light brown. [illegible] Riding out yesterday with [illegible] war we saw walking up the [illegible] a stylish female moving with [illegible] swimming swan-like gait which is supposed to come from a full and [illegible] well trained. [illegible] General. Perhaps you would like to know whether that person was black or white? [illegible] was in [illegible] She walks like a lady—first family of [illegible]. We rode past, and beheld the fair vision was a quadroon.

THE WAR DEMOCRATS OF WISCONSIN.—The loyal Democrats of Wisconsin unable to adopt the platform of the Copperhead convention of the 5th of August, or to support its nominees, have published a call for a convention to be held at Janesville on the 17th of September. Referring to the Copperhead convention the call says: "We have no comment to make upon the ticket but it is utterly impossible for war Democrats to acquiesce in the pernicious doctrines, the sympathy [illegible] and languid patriotism displayed by the platform or to approve of its silence on the duties and necessities of the hour. We cannot sanction its heresies, nor are we willing that the glorious party of Jefferson and Jackson—that party to whose guidance the destinies of our country have so often been safely confided—should pass into the control of this arrogant and disloyal faction. Under these circumstances the duties and true position of the loyal Democracy seem plain and clear, and that is to take action at once to organize a real and sound and Democratic party which shall be unflinching in principle, loyal in practice, true and free in speech, and devoted to the Government, however and by whomsoever administered, against all foes, open or concealed, at home or abroad, in the North or in the South." The call is signed by over fifty of the strong supporters of the Democratic party.

CITY DRAINAGE.—We do not believe there is a city on the Pacific coast which possesses better natural location for constructing an ample and cheap sewerage throughout, than Portland. Still, there is hardly a sewer in the city, and after a half day's rain the streets are flooded with water and all because either the people fail to elect a proper City Council or electing one find that it is powerless to accomplish anything in this matter on account of some technical flaw in the charter or ordinances of the city. We think that it would be well if the property holders and citizens who are permanently located here paid more attention to the electing of men to the Common Council who have the interest of the city at heart, rather than some private object to accomplish. If our city affairs had been properly managed the taxes that have been collected would have been applied to the improvement and drainage of our streets, rather than squandered on petty suits and the attainment of individual objects.

ARRIVED.—The bark Industry, Corno master, arrived at this port in tow of the steamer John H Couch, on Saturday evening last with the following as her manifest: [illegible] Seller & Co 101 pkgs, Smith & Davis 177, Failings [illegible], Dallas 77, W 12, Knapp Burrell & Co [illegible], H W Corbett 149, Hodge & Calef 135, S & F 200, [illegible] 186, H Pittock 90, J Seller & Co [illegible], W J Northrop 147, Jacob Mayer 13, [illegible] Cohen, Lyon & Co [illegible], Allen & Lewis 543, Ladd Reed & Co 49, [illegible] & Co 171, [illegible] Walter Bros, [illegible] A Dodge 224 tons salt; [illegible] Freight for Astoria—Capt George Flavel, two 12 inch blocks.

TAX LEVIED.—The County Commissioners at their session on Saturday last, levied the following tax upon the returned assessment roll for the current fiscal year: County purposes, 7 mills, building purposes, 6 mills, State tax, 3 mills, school tax, 2 mills. Total, 18 mills on each hundred dollars. The total assessed value of property, as returned by the Assessor, is upward of $3,500,000.

EQUINOCTIAL.—The storm which has been passing over this latitude for the last forty eight hours is caused by old Sol crossing the equinox on his journey southward. After this storm has passed, we shall no doubt have some pleasant weather ere the regular "mist" for six months commences falling.

AT HALF MAST.—The flags of the different engine houses were at half mast yesterday in respect to the memory of Peter McQuade, an old and respected resident of our city and a member of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company.

NEWSPAPER FAVORS.—We are indebted to Charles Barrett for a large bundle of pictorial, Eastern papers and magazines furnished in advance of the mail. Barrett's counters are always supplied with all kinds of reading matter, and he knows how to deal it out.

BROKE DOWN.—The stage was stalled in a mud hole about half a mile from town, and after trying to extricate it for some time, the tongue broke and the driver was compelled to leave it and bring the mail to town in one of Mr Carr's mud wagons.

ARRIVAL.—Hon Elwood Evans, Secretary of Washington Territory, and our old friend and brother typo, L. E. Hicks, arrived on the John H Couch on Saturday evening. Hicks looks as though clam-eating agreed with him.

U S DISTRICT COURT.—This Court will commence an adjourned term this morning at 10 o'clock, Hon M. P. Deady presiding.

THEATER.—The theater was crowded from pit to dome on Saturday night, to witness the interesting play of 'Camille,' and a better performance, or more fashionable and appreciative audience was never witnessed inside the Willamette Theater. Mrs Hayne, as Camille, both looked and acted the character in the most life like and splendid manner, and throughout the whole play her acting was faultless. The scene where she promises to leave her lover for the sake of his father and sister, as also the death scene, was very thrilling and affecting. Armand Duval, was personated by Waldron in a manner which added much to his reputation as an excellent actor. Miss Mitchell as Nanine, was very good, especially her speech to the 'gentlemen of the jury.' Indeed, the whole troop performed their parts in a manner highly creditable to themselves and the company. To-night, the great play of "Griseldis" will be performed for the last time, during the engagement of Mrs Hayne, which expires this week. Those who witnessed the first presentation of this play speak of it in the highest terms. Secure your seats early.

Joe Webber has received a lot fresh oysters.

Resolutions.—At a meeting of the members of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company, held at the house of said Company in the city of Portland, at 4 o'clock P M, on the 27th inst, the following resolutions were adopted:

City Drainage.—We do not believe there is a city on the Pacific coast which possesses a better natural location for constructing an ample and cheap sewerage throughout, than Portland. Still, there is hardly a sewer in the city, and after a half day's rain the streets are flooded with water, and all because either the people fail to elect a proper City Council, or electing one, find that it is powerless to accomplish anything in this matter on account of some technical flaw in the charter or ordinances of the city. We think that it would be well if the property holders and citizens who are permanently located here paid more attention to the electing of men to the Common Council who have the interest of the city at heart, rather than some private object to accomplish. Remarkable Cure.

Brest, Monroe Co, Mich, Oct. 9, 1858.

Messrs. A. L. Scovill & Co.—In reply to inquiries, as to the efficacy of your DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA, justice requires of me to state that, having at times been attacked by a violent contraction of the muscles of the legs, I experienced immediate relief by taking at each time a swallow of the Pain Panacea, direct from the bottle. It is rather a tough remedy, but I have always found the enduring of the Panacea a very happy exchange for the excruciating pains attending cramps in the limbs.

In Every Age of the World. the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than DR. OSGOOD'S INDIA CHOLAGOGUE. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system is acknowledged by all. Do you prefer a speedy and effectual cure to a regular and scientific run of disease? Try the Cholagogue, and the object is accomplished. Then tell your suffering neighbor what it has done for you, that it may do the same for him.

Robespierre.

BY JOHN S. C. ABBOTT.

Among the many remarkable men developed by the French Revolution, there are few who stand more prominent than Robespierre. His first appearance was in the Assembly of the States General. The nobles and bishops resolved to meet in separate halls, that each of the separate orders, having two votes and the commoner but one, the commons might thus be outvoted, though in an immense majority. Were they to meet in one assembly, the commons could, of course, carry their requisites. The poor were in a state of terrible distress. The nobles sent the Archbishop of Aix with a very pathetic appeal, urging the commons in behalf of the miseries of the people, to proceed to business, by consenting to a separation of the three chambers.

Robespierre, one of the deputies of the commons, then an unknown young man, pale and slender, rose and said: "Go tell your colleagues that we are waiting for them here to aid us in assuaging the sorrows of the people. Tell them no longer to retard our work. Tell them that our resolution is not to be shaken by such a stratagem as this. If they have sympathy for the poor, let them, in imitation of their master, renounce that luxury which consumes the funds of indigence, dismiss these insolent lackeys who attend them, sell their gorgeous equipages, and with these superfluities relieve the perishing. We wait for them here!"

We next hear of him earnestly advocating the abolition of the death penalty. Dr. Guillotin had introduced a new machine, called, from the inventor, the guillotine, for the infliction of capital punishment, without subjecting pain. A general burst of laughter was excited in the assembly as the doctor said:

"With my machine I can clip off your head in the twinkling of an eye, without your feeling it!"

It may be remarked, in passing, that many who then smiled were soon beheaded by the keen axe.

A party arose in France called the Girondists—so called because their leaders were from the department of the Gironde. They at first were in favor of a constitutional monarchy like that of England. But finding from the perfidy of the King and the Court, this to be impossible, they then advocated a republic. There was another party advocating the extreme democratic license, called the Jacobins. Robespierre was one of the leaders of the latter party. He brought an exceedingly envenomed bill of accusation against the Girondists, overwhelmed them in their trial, and all of them were sent to the guillotine.

Robespierre, Danton and Marat, the heads of the Jacobin party, were now the idols of France. Charlotte Corday soon plunged her dagger into the bosom of Marat. Herbert, at the head of the atheists of Paris, organized a formidable party. Robespierre, at the peril of his life, threw himself into the breach to oppose them. "There are men," he said, "who, under the pretext of destroying a superstition, would make a religion of atheism. The legislator who would adopt the system of atheism, is insane. The national convention abhors such a system. Atheism is aristocratic. The idea of a Great Being, who watches over oppressed innocence, and who punishes triumphant guilt, is quite popular. The people, the unfortunate, applaud me. If God did not exist, it would behoove men to invent Him."

The conflict was short and desperate. Each party knew that the guillotine was the doom of the vanquished. Herbert and his coadjutors, nineteen in number, were, on the 17th of March, 1794, in five carts, conducted to the scaffold.

Danton and Robespierre now quarreled—Robespierre again conquered in the death struggle, and Danton was doomed to die. Before the dawning of the morning, gens d'armes entered his chamber and tore him from the arms of his wife.

As he entered his prison, in the vaults of Luxemburg, he said, sadly:

"At length I perceive that in revolutions the supreme power ultimately rests with the most abandoned. We are sacrificed to the ambition of a few dastardly brigands. But they will not long enjoy the fruit of their villainy. I drag Robespierre after me. Robespierre follows me to the grave."

As Danton, with Camille Desmoulins and others who were to be executed with them, alighted from the cart at the scaffold, Herault de Sechelles, who was to suffer first, endeavored to take leave of Danton in a parting embrace. The brutal executioner interposed.

"Wretch!" said Danton, "you will not at least prevent our heads from kissing presently in the basket."

As he was bound to the fatal plank, he said, "O, my wife—my dear wife—shall I never see you again?" Then, as if ashamed of this emotion, he added, "But, Danton, no weakness." Then, as the plank fell to its place beneath the slide, he proudly remarked to the executioner, "You will show my head to the people. It will be worth the display."

Robespierre was now the undisputed victor. Day after day he punished his foes, and the guillotine ran red with blood. He was not maliciously cruel, but thoroughly frantic, believing that all political opponents should be executed. The mother of Lucille, the young wife of Desmoulins, wrote in the following terms to Robespierre, who had doomed her daughter to death. She and Lucille and Desmoulins had formerly been Robespierre's intimate friends.

"Robespierre," she wrote, "is it not enough to have assassinated your best friend? Do you desire the blood of his wife, my daughter? Two hours more, and she will not be in existence. Robespierre, if you are not a tiger in human shape—if the blood of Camille has not inebriated you to the losing of your reason entirely—if you still recall our evenings of intimacy—if you recall the caresses lavished on our little Horace, and how you delighted to hold him upon your knees—spare an innocent victim. But if the fury is that of the lion, come and take me also, and my daughter Adele, and little Horace. Come, with hands reeking in the blood of Camille, and let one single tomb re unite us."

But Robespierre was inexorable, and young and beautiful Lucille perished beneath the fatal axe.

Robespierre was one of the most inexplicable of men. His moral character was irreproachable. No bribes could corrupt him. He sincerely endeavored to establish a republic upon the basis of popular liberty and virtue. Self aggrandizement was not part of his plan. But he was as merciless as the slide of the guillotine. At times, indeed, he seemed weary of blood. On one occasion he remarked:

"Death—always death, and the [illegible] throw all the responsibility on me. What a memory shall I leave behind me if this lasts. Life is a burden to me."

A young girl—Cecil Regnault—but seventeen years of age, was accused of plotting the assassination of Robespierre. She and all her friends perished on the scaffold, and eight carts were filled with victims to avenge the crime. But the fickle populace at last began to suspect them of being unfriendly to the Revolution, and of wishing to arrest its torrent of blood. In six months two thousand three hundred and seventy five had perished upon the scaffold in Paris alone. Robespierre, weary of blood, attempted to check their senseless atrocities. A conspiracy of very energetic men was formed against him. As he entered the convention on the 26th of July 1794, cries of "Down with the tyrant!" filled the house. Overwhelmed by the clamor, Robespierre in vain endeavored to speak in self defence.

"President of the assassins," he shouted, "will you hear me?"

He was arrested and led to the Hotel de Brionne, in the Place du Carrousel. His friends rescued him, and carried him to the Mayor's room at the Hotel de Ville.

It was now night, and all Paris was in a blaze of commotion—mobs surging through the streets. A detachment of soldiers were sent by the convention to arrest Robespierre again. He was sitting calmly at the table, awaiting his fate. One of the soldiers discharged a pistol at him.

The ball entered his cheek, breaking his jaw, and producing a terrible wound. His head dropped upon the table, deluging it with blood. Thus mangled, he was borne on a litter just as the day was beginning to close. The blood flowed freely from his wound, coagulating in his mouth and choking him as it trickled down his throat. After passing an hour of almost unendurable agony, he with his brother and several others of his friends, were brought before the Revolutionary Tribunal. The trial occupied but a few moments, and they were all doomed to die.

At five o'clock of the same evening, the cart conveyed them through the Rue St Honore to the Place de la Revolution. Robespierre ascended the scaffold with a firm step. As the executioner brutally tore the bandage from his inflamed wound, he uttered a shriek of torture which pierced every ear. In another moment the axe of the guillotine glided swiftly down its groove, and the head of Robespierre fell into the basket. There was a moment of silence, and then there came, from the lips of those who, but a short time before, were shouting hosannas to his name, a burst of the wildest applause.

Thus died Robespierre, in the thirty fifth year of his age.

MEN, WOMEN OR CHILDREN.

THEY CONTAIN

NO ALCOHOL OR BAD WHISKEY.

They will cure the above diseases in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred.

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable,) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers, have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whiskey, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters, which instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public, and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of Letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,
LAWYERS,
PHYSICIANS
CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt: Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!
AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, August 23d, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy-two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer "State of Maine," from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours,

ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life.
